

Weekly Updates for Arlington/November 9-13, 2009

Everyone is excited to be celebrating Veterans Day! Classes are abuzz with poetry writing and poster contests, giving tribute to the brave men and women that keep our country free! Veterans will be speaking about their experiences Tuesday afternoon during special ceremonies prepared by Mrs. Rothman and Mrs. Humphreys. Speakers are followed by a flag folding ceremony and choral rendition of The Star Spangled Banner.

We are happy to be offering our students Scoliosis and Screenings this week.

Vision

Middle school students have been studying South America. They are creating their own South American nations, reflective of cultural characteristics they've been the geographic and studying!

All of our secondary groups are investigating the three main types of volcanoes for their "Volcano Challenge" and applying The Scientific Method in hands on labs, manipulating multiple variables and controls.

A lot of our classes are incorporating drama and lessons this week. Reading classes are miming been reading about, while in Bible they role play murmuring and complaining, as well as falling mime into their characters they've the dangers of prey to peer pressure.

Our elementary students are beginning a study of Plymouth Rock. Plymouth Rock will be our first destination on our "Around the World" walking project. The students will share their findings in mini skits at our Thanksgiving family luncheon on the 20th. We would sure love to see you there!

